

Sugaring ... The New Waxing

Sugaring is almost as old as civilisation itself. The ancient Egyptians and Romans used to remove their body hair by using a paste made of sugar. For some unknown reason the practice was almost lost in the middle ages, and it is just now that we are rediscovering the advantages of Sugaring.

What is Sugaring?

Sugaring is a form of epilation very similar to waxing, however there are some major differences that make it a far better hair removal method.

Sugaring vs Waxing

- Waxing products are made from resins that adhere to the skin cells. When the wax is pulled the skin is irritated. Sugaring is made of natural products (sugar, water, lemon) that do not adhere to live skin cells, therefore when it is removed, it only gently exfoliates dead skin cells.
- Sugar paste can be easily removed with water if accidentally spilled on clothing or other surfaces. Wax is sticky and oily and can cause a mess.
- Waxing removes the hair against the natural direction of growth causing pain and breakage. Sugaring is removed in the direction of hair growth diminishing pain and discomfort and reducing breakage.
- Sugaring helps eliminate ingrown hairs.
- Sugaring only needs 1.5mm of hair growth
- Sugaring is 100% antibacterial and fragrance free
- Sugaring can be applied at room temperature, so it does not burn the skin
- Sugaring penetrates deep into the hair follicle lubricating the root and removing dead skin cells which clog the pores.

We are super excited to announce the official launch of Environ's much anticipated ground-breaking new product, the Intensive Revival Masque - the result of four years of clinical trials.

"The story behind why we developed 'Revival Masque' is that this was my first step in the mission I have to make a skin care product that would be like a 'face lift in a bottle'. I know that this is a preposterous idea, but as a dreamer I decided to pursue it." Dr. Des Fernandes

Environ's 'Revival Masque' has a unique combination of revolutionary ingredients: Asiatic, Mandelic and Lactic Acid that make the skin appear more luminous, smoother and revitalised.

BENEFITS:

- Asiatic Acid stimulates growth factors that are important in the regenerative processes of the skin, facilitating the regeneration of the collagen matrix.
- Mandelic and Lactic Acids promote natural hydrating factors in the skin and lightens uneven skin tone.
- Contains anti-ageing properties creating younger and more revitalised skin.

FREE TRIAL

Try our Elos Permanent Hair Removal with one free under arm or bikini line session.

Elos technology combines the power of IPL with Radio Frequency to deliver the most effective treatment for most skin and hair colours.

For prices and more information in any of our services or products visit our website: www.skinnexus.com.au or call us on 03 9802 4081.

Christmas Specials*

We have Facials Gift Vouchers at 50% off, so you can pamper your mum, wife or friend without breaking the bank.

Also limited Environ's AVST Skin Care range at 20% to 40% off.

½ Price Elos Permanent Hair Removal.

*Specials are available till 31/12/14 or until stocks last. Excludes any other specials or discounts.